Drastic Clause In Railroad Bill Approved

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 16.—(By the Associated Press)—A railroad strike or lockout threatening a transportation emergency would result automatically in suits by the government to throw the roads affected into receivership under an amendment to the Howell-Barkley bill approved today by a senate sub-committee.

The bill itself, which provides for abolition of the railroad labor board and substitution of a system of adjustment tribunals on which both the roads and their employees would be represented then was reported favorably by the sub-committee to the full interstate commerce committee. A similar bill is to come up in the house early next week.

The amendment reported by the sub-committee provides specifically that when a strike or lockout results on a railroad which the president considers may bring a transportation crisis, he shall at once instruct the attorney general to file a suit for receivership and shall seek appointment as receiver of a man "who has no financial connection with the railroad."

Children Are Barred In Play

NEW YORK, May 16.—(By the Associated Press)—Protests against the racial issue raised by "All God's Children Got Wings", Eugene O'Neill's play in which a white woman becomes the wife of a negro, and which was given its premiere presentation last night, caused Mayor Hylan to refuse permission for the appearance of eight children in the cast, his office announced today.

Permission for their participation had been granted by the City Society, appearances, contingent on the mayor's approval. When the letter was withheld, the first act, in which white boys and girls are at play with negro children, was read from the stage, and the play started in the second act.

Plaintiff in her petition, filed through Attorney Harry Ball, complaining of cruelty, declares that Mershon has at various times committed acts of violence against her, the last time on April 10 last, when, she says, he assaulted her while in a rage of anger, besides, she claims, he broke up the dishes at the table.

Plaintiff further says that Mershon has been guilty of misconduct with the "other woman" and that by reason of his treatment she was compelled to leave him.

Judge Rules E. L. Doheny, Jr. Not Required to Testify

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 16.—(By the Associated Press)—E. L. Doheny, Jr., of Los Angeles, Calif., will not be required to testify before the special oil grand jury in the District of Columbia, supreme court.

Justice Hitz so ruled in dismissing the petition of the grand jurors that Doheny be required to answer questions despite his claim of his constitutional privileges that his answer might tend to incriminate him.

The ruling was made after Atlee Pomeroy, special government counsel in the oil cases had concluded a brief argument. Justice Hitz, did not ask to hear from Frank J. Hogan, counsel for Doheny.

Mr. Pomeroy expressed the belief of government and the jurors that in declining to testify young Doheny was not acting in good faith and was seeking to protect his father Edward L. Doheny, Sr., who made a loan of $100,000 to Albert B. Fall on November 30, 1921, while Fall was a member of the cabinet. Young Doheny was the messenger in the transaction, his father having testified before the senate oil committee that it was he who delivered the cash to Fall.

RIVER TO REACH 50 FOOT STAGE

Contrary to predictions of local rivermen yesterday the Ohio river continued to climb throughout the night and today and at one o'clock this afternoon a stage of 49.3 was registered. The stage this morning at seven o'clock was 48.8, the noon reading showing a rise of one inch per hour for the past six hours. The river was reported falling as far down as Huntington and this afternoon local rivermen stated that the stream should be on a stand here tonight with the crest about 50 feet.

Weather Observer W. V. Devaux's official report issued Friday morning reads as follows:

"Fair tonight and probably Saturday. Warmer. River will be about stationary in the upper portion of district tonight and fall Saturday; in lower portion river will rise slowly tonight and be about stationary Saturday. Crest at Portsmouth will be about 50 feet and Maysville near 48.0 feet."

Yesterday when the rate of rise slowed up to about an inch per hour it was hoped the stream would become stationary Thursday night but instead it kept climbing slowly and hopes that the water would be off the towpath by Sunday had to be given up. Should the river start to fall tomorrow the drop back is not expected to be rapid enough to clear the towpath for traffic Sunday. A 45 foot stage covers the towpath. Many are using the Lucasville route to reach their homes on the West Side.

Modern Valjean

Ira B. Hall, like another Jean Valjean, finds himself undone by his honesty and faith. Eight years ago Hall escaped from a Georgia prison where he was under sentence for murder and, joined by his wife and family went to live on a Florida truck farm. There he has been an exemplary citizen. Recently his daughter became engaged to marry and, feeling that his future son-in-law should be told, Hall bared his story. A few days later a sheriff arrived and returned Hall to prison. Mrs. Hall (here pictured with her baby) is pleading before the Georgia Prison Commission for his release.

AFTER A TEST OF 26 YEARS

Illinois Woman Tells of the Good Results She Has Obtained from her Consistent Use of Cardui.

St. Joseph, Ill.—"I have used Cardui at intervals for 26 years," recently said Mrs. Asa G. Ollis, of St. Joseph. "Shortly after my marriage, I had my first course of this splendid medicine. My... were irregular and I suffered with cramps and a pain in my side and back. I took Cardui and it helped me. I could see I was better after my first bottle."

"I used Cardui for weakness and nervous troubles before and after childbirth. It is a splendid tonic and after two or three bottles, I would be stronger than ever."

"I am the mother of eleven children, seven girls and four boys. I don't believe I would ever have been able to do for them as I have, had I not taken a good tonic that helped my nerves, gave me an appetite and strength. I feel like I couldn't have gotten along without it. I used it for change and got along real well."

"Mrs. Ollis certainly should know what she is talking about after having put Cardui to such a long test. One of Cardui's chief ingredients, however, has been tested by me and recommended by medical authorities in the treatment of female troubles for over six hundred years. Have you tried it?—Advertisement."

President

of the product concerned as is exported. Such fee shall be approximately equivalent to the tariff upon imports into the United States of the product concerned, per unit of such product, less a sufficient percentage to prevent excessive imports.

An excise tax shall be levied upon all of the product concerned which is sold during the emergency period. The excise tax shall be calculated to produce an amount sufficient to pay the export equalization fee as nearly as may be estimated together with all expenses of operating the plan.

An emergency export corporation shall be created. Its directors shall consist of the Secretary of Agriculture, the Secretary of Commerce, the Secretary of Labor, the Secretary of the Treasury and one other, appointed by the president and confirmed by the Senate. The director so appointed shall be chairman and managing director. The corporation shall have no capital stock. It shall be empowered to levy and collect the excise tax, pay the equalization fee and conduct all other business in connection therewith.

Would Have Owners to Borrow Money
In order to operate while getting under way, the corporation would be authorized to borrow not to exceed $5,000,000. Also it would be empowered to borrow as against future tax collections in case they did not arrive in sufficient volume at times to meet administration expenses, but the borrowing would be done in the open market, certificates of indebtedness being issued the same as in any other business. They would bear interest at current rates and be payable on or before the close of the emergency period.

Illustration Worked Out
An illustration worked out by Mr. Drummond is as follows:

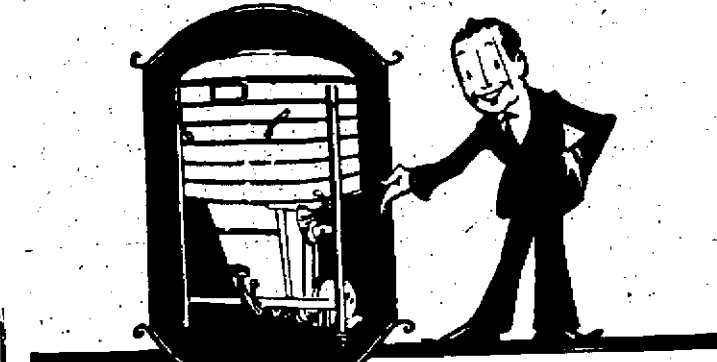

"Domestic price of wheat is based on world price, which is $1 per bushel. The tariff is about 45 cents. The crop is about 700,000,000 bushels above seed requirements. The exportable surplus is 100,000,000 bushels. Levy an excise tax of 6 cents per bushel on 700,000,000 bushels and it would yield a revenue of $42,000,000. Then an export equalization fee of forty cents would be paid at the port of export amounting to about $40,000,000, leaving about $2,000,000 to cover expenses or be returned to those upon whom a tax had been levied. The result would be that the domestic price would be $1 less six cents excise tax plus forty cents in export fee or a total of $1.34 as the final price of wheat. If desired a higher or lower scale could be used."

Illustration: Pay an export fee of sixty cents a bushel. This would require an excise tax of 6 cents and the result is a net increase of 54 cents per bushel.

The International Farm Congress is one of the conservative farm bodies and is opposed to government entry into private business or price-fixing. The foregoing plan is held to be neither, but a simple application of the method by which domestic prices are protected by the tariff in other commodities. If the McNary-Haugen bill is beaten, as seems likely, this plan will be seized upon as a substitute, but it has the merit of involving no expense to the government which may commend it to the administration.

WAKES IMPASSIVE DEBUT

Rickbours, a Washington, D. C. resident who used to be a punch writer made a most unimpressive debut. He came through with a triple on his first appearance. In his second attempt in the punch, he hit for two bases. His third trial resulted in a strikeout. He failed to take his bat off his shoulder, while Harris of the Athletics curved three over.

Franck, 20, brothers, of Germany
Hollow, Porter township, arrested by the police in connection with the al-

P. H. S. CLASS PLAY IS SUCCESS; REPEATED TONIGHT

P. H. S. Seniors, enacting their role in a manner that would have been a credit to professionals, presented for the first time last night their 1924 class play, "A Tailor Made Man." The show made such a decided hit that another way into the high school auditorium tonight when the play is given for the second and last time, starting at 8 A. A number of good seats remain unsold for tonight's performance. They may be secured at the door this evening.

"A Tailor Made Man" is a four act comedy presented with much success on the stage and in movies and the success it has met with there was repeated last night when P. H. S. Seniors presented the play. Several changes in the more important roles will be made tonight but each and everyone has been trained to perfection and the second presentation is sure to move along as smoothly as last night. From the beginning to end the show abounds in mirth provoking situations with here and there a touch of the more serious side of the plot. The crowd voiced its approval of the efforts of the young people by their hearty applause.

The leading role was handled in a masterful manner by Homer Micklethwait who took the part of John Paul Bart who starts as a presser in a tailor shop, "bottows" a dress suit to break into society and finally lands in a position of merit where he finally lands a second time after complications and difficulties. The leading male role was taken by Miss Georgia West as Tanya Huber, daughter of the owner of the tailor shop and who is in love with John Paul Bart. One of the leading supporting roles was well taken care of by Gilbert Fuller as Mr. Huber, owner of the tailor shop. His role called for difficult lines that were spoken as coming from a professional. Others who took prominent parts include Walter Severinghaus as Dr. Sonntag also in love with Tanya, Esther Graf and Mary Louise Selby as Mrs. Stanlaw and daughter Corinne. Mrs. Elizabeth Schwartz, and Maud Mathiot as Mrs. Dupuy, and daughter Bessie, Harold Thompson as Mr. Nathan, Charles Frederick as Pomeroy, Lawrence Kibbie as Rowlands, a newspaper man, Everett Cranston as Peter, successor to John Paul Bart in the tailor shop and Virginia Robinson as Miss Lee.

Between the second and third acts a specialty is given by the Senior Boys' Glee Club who rendered "Boost the Old High School." They expect to sing at the commencement exercises.

Before the opening of the show last night the Senior Class presented a dozen beautiful roses to Mrs. Walter Gableman who directed the play. Miss Margaret Ball, faculty member, Miss Lucy Hall and Miss Ester Severinghaus, members of the high school faculty, who have played an important part in the education of the seniors.

The curtain was drawn after selections by the "fiddlers three and three" and a string orchestra directed most capably by Miss Esther Severinghaus, who accompanied the nine on the piano. This orchestra also played between the acts.

The curtain rises on the tailoring establishment of Mr. Huber, where the difficulties of the "hero" find their source. Act two brings this same hero to the reception room of the exclusive Stanlaw home, while act three finds the scene shifting to the offices of the American Oceanic Shipbuilding Corporation, and the final act brings the plot to a happy conclusion in the tailoring establishment.

Stage Manager Donald Russell deserves special mention for his work which was expeditiously done. The cast of characters for last night's performance, every one of whom deserve more than ordinary mention, follow:

Rev. Phelps to Talk on "The Church in the Valley"

Rev. William Horatio Phelps, D. D., pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, has selected two appealing subjects for his sermons at the morning and evening services Sunday. His morning topic will be "The Church in the Valley," and his evening theme, "The Church By the Willows." These subjects recall to many the days of their youth, attending the little rural churches, and the fond memories of those golden days. Rev. Phelps promises very interesting discourses in developing these subjects and the Second church extends an invitation to the public to hear them.

Splendid musical numbers have also been arranged for the day. In addition to the authors' pieces by the choir under the direction of Professor Elmer Ende, Miss Bertha Blood will sing in the morning "O Savior Hear His" with Mrs. Russell Becker accompanying with violin obligato.

A meeting will be held in the near future for the election of officers and the adoption of a constitution and by-laws. The aim of this new organization is a more standardized product, graded and branded to find a better and less fluctuating market for the rapidly increasing acreage of potatoes of Scioto county.

Here are the Reasons for the Power, Smoothness and Endurance of Oakland's Six-Cylinder Engine

1. Oakland's new six-cylinder L-head engine is of the most advanced design. Its remarkable performance is the logical result of competent engineering and high grade construction throughout.
2. The large, perfectly-balanced crankshaft runs in big, special, bronze-backed bearings. These patented bearings are positively the best that money can buy.
3. Lubrication is force fed by means of a reliable gear-type oil pump. Main, camshaft, and connecting-rod bearings and timing chain are continually bathed in oil. This positive lubrication adds greatly to quiet operation and long life.
4. Oakland cylinders are honed smooth as glass on special machines. Pistons and rings of the latest design are individually fitted into each cylinder with extreme care and precision. Vibration and wear are practically eliminated by this process.
5. The connecting rods are light and strong. The babbit-lined bearings are permanently bonded to each rod with pure tin—the most approved process and also the most expensive.
6. The camshaft is driven by a silent chain running in a bath of oil. This is conceded the best type of drive and the most accurate. There is a convenient external adjustment.
7. Oakland valves are of special heat-resisting alloy steel. So efficient are they, that valve grinding is necessary only at very rare intervals.
8. The intake manifold is scientifically designed to insure perfect fuel distribution to all cylinders, and therefore smooth, economical operation. There is a handy temperature adjustment for summer and winter.
9. The electrical system maintains Remy standards of excellence. The spark control is entirely automatic, which means that the engine will deliver the maximum of power under all conditions.
10. The single-plate disc clutch is simple and durable. It is self-adjusting for wear. Its smooth operation makes possible the remarkably easy gear shifting of the True Blue Oakland.

A large and well known manufacturer of good bedroom furniture decided to reduce the unnecessarily large number of patterns of suites and odd pieces they have been making in order to specialize on a fewer number of patterns. The discontinued numbers are of the same high quality and equally as desirable as the numbers retained. It was simply a clean-up as to what patterns to discontinue. When we learned of this reduction of patterns we immediately made the manufacturer an offer for the whole stock of discontinued numbers on hand. Our offer was accepted, consequently we have acquired a large and attractive assortment of brand new suites and odd pieces at a cost which enables us to present these extraordinary buying opportunities.

Hide the Eyes

Then note what pretty teeth mean to you

No other factor in beauty and charm means so much as pretty teeth. Millions of people have found the way to whiter teeth, to keep them safer, cleaner. This offers you a ten-day test. Learn what it means to you.

That film-cloud

That viscous film you feel on teeth is what hides their luster. Under old methods of teeth cleaning, much of it clings and stays. It becomes discolored, forming dingy coats. The teeth become unsightly.

Film also holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Most cloudy teeth and most tooth troubles come from film you leave.

When this fact was discovered, dental science sought ways to correct it. It found two film combatants. One disintegrates the film at all stages of formation. One removes it without harmful scouring. Many clinical tests have proved

Protect the Enamel

Pepsodent disintegrates the film, then removes it with an agent far softer than enamel. Never use a film combatant which contains harsh grit.

these methods effective. A new-type tooth paste has been created to apply them daily. The name is Pepsodent.

That tooth paste has brought a new dental era to the homes of some 50 nations.

Let your mirror be the proof

Pepsodent brings many new results. It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva, which is there to neutralize mouth acids. It multiplies the ptyalin in saliva, which is there to digest starch deposits on teeth.

These combined effects will change your whole conception of clean teeth.

Burns Prove Fatal To Frank Hall

Death in one of its most tragic forms came to Frank "Peck" Hall, former New Boston marshal, employed by the Breese Manufacturing Company at New Boston, when he died about 10:20 o'clock last night in Hempstead hospital of burns suffered about two o'clock yesterday afternoon when he fell into a vat of scalding water at the Breese plant. Death came as an end to several hours of agonizing pain, his flesh from the arm pits down being literally cooked. Loved ones remained at his bedside at the hospital until the final summons.

Hall is the second employee to meet death in this manner at the Breese plant in the past six months, and one other man was badly burned about the legs in a fall into the vat. On December 2 last Walter Higgs, 22, of 37 10 1/2 Stanton avenue, fell into the vat and sustained burns that resulted in his death several hours later.

The second victim, Frank Hall, has been employed at the Breese plant about three years. His first work was as truck driver and he had been on the new job working about the scalding vat only a short time. He realized the danger of the work and had always been very careful, according to fellow employees.

The big vats are about 20 feet long, 10 feet wide and 8 feet deep, the vat not being filled to the top yesterday. Had it been filled the water would have been deep enough to completely cover Hall when his feet touched the bottom of the vat.

Logs are put into it so that the back can be removed easily. Wood acids and any water are extracted in the boiling process and the liquid in the vat assumes marked chemical qualities, being aggravating to the flesh.

The accident yesterday happened so quickly that Hall was into the vat and out again before fellow employees could get to him to help him. Hall managed to get a hold on the side of the vat and pulled himself out, but the few seconds he was in the water were enough to allow the scalding acid water to burn severely deep to cause death.

Frank Hall, 34, of 1010 1/2 Main street, was summoned to Birmingham, Ala., yesterday by the illness of Mr. Lowry, who became ill there while on business trip. Mrs. Lowry left yesterday afternoon and the many friends await with anxiety word from the sick-room.

Dr. Harold Schirman of New Boston was summoned, and administered first aid, ordering the injured man removed to Hempstead Hospital. At the hospital, Dr. Schirman was joined by Dr. A. B. Mills of New Boston, Hall's family physician, and Dr. D. A. Berndt of Gallia street. The three physicians reported to each other known means in their efforts to save Hall's life, but were forced to abandon hope that the surface area of skin scalded was so great recovery was impossible.

Hypodermics were administered in the hope of relieving pain, but his condition was such that they were of no avail.

Frank Hall was born and reared in the Slocum Station community, where he spent most of his life. He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hall, Sr., of Slocum Station. The father has been seriously ill and was not able to be at his son's bedside yesterday. The mother visited the hospital, but had to be returned to the home of a relative. The wife was at home near the residence of the parents when she received word of the accident. She was taken to the hospital in an automobile.

The accident victim was 28 years of age. He was well known in New Boston, where he worked in the Ohio avenue grocery of J. S. Davis and later in the Davis picture show. While serving as deputy marshal under the term of Mayor J. S. Davis, he was appointed Marshal to fill the unexpired term of Marshal W. I. Davis, who resigned. He was a veteran of the World War, having served eight months with Uncle Sam's forces overseas.

Four years ago he was united in marriage to Miss Louella Anderson of Harrisburg, Penn. Besides the widow and parents, one sister, Mrs. Edith Bolander, of New Boston, and two brothers, Martin Hall of New Boston and William Hall at home survive.

Mr. Hall was a member of the New Boston Council J. O. U. A. M. and the Daughters of America.

Funeral services will be held from the home of the parents Sunday morning at ten o'clock, with Rev. Charles Reinhard of Scottdale Christian church in charge. Burial will be in the Slocum Station cemetery.

Timely Tips For Amateurs

SAYS W. MAKANVILLE

Infielder, Pittsburgh Nationals

Perhaps no infield position causes for more stuffing, if it is to be played intelligently, than shortstop. The greatest fault of the present-day shortstops is that most of them make it a stationary position.

They pick a certain spot as their stamping ground, and then proceed to take that position on every hit, regardless of a player's habit of hitting to certain fields.

The best bit of advice I received when breaking in, was to play every batter differently, based on the knowledge gained of his peculiarities.

Often a step or two in the proper direction prior to the pitch, makes an easy play of a drive that would otherwise go for a base hit. Study your batters.

I See By The Daily Times

That denial has been made by the N. & W. officials that ground is being sought near Scottdale for additional switching purposes.

That the service department is putting a number of new water plugs in various sections of the city.

That the vast plant of the Portsmouth Works, Wheeling Steel Corporation is working steadily in all departments.

That the N. & W. and C. & O. will operate popular baseball excursions to Cincinnati on May 25.

That a well known West End business man is planning to quit business.

That windows are now being placed in the Glickner garage, Second and Chillicothe streets.

Miss Dolly Wise

This is her to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, household, dress, etiquette, etc. Letters should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Dear Dolly—I am keeping company with a man who is very bad to drink. He has a machine and asks me to take a ride. Do you think it would be all right for me to go with him? My parents don't want me to go with him. They say he makes me with other people. I don't know what to do. I have asked him to marry me but I thought I would ask you about accepting him.

POPULAR FLAPPER.
It won't take me long to tell you not to have anything to do with a drunkard. Don't go out riding with him. He will make you a flapper. If you do, every time you go, you are flirting with an undertaker. The fact that he flirts with other girls right before your eyes, shows where you stand, and if you have any spunk in you, you will quit doing with him.

Dear Dolly—I read so many letters to your column about unhappy wives and husbands, and I also notice that most of the trouble comes from the husband not giving the wife enough money to keep house on. Now Dolly, I would like to tell you and myself, get along with my husband and myself. He gives me every cent of the money he makes, and I manage all the household expenses, see to every thing and pay everything. I keep a family pocketbook handy with what change I think we will need from one pay day until the next and my husband is free to go to that pocketbook and take any amount he wants for lunches, cigars, tobacco, street car fare or what not and there are no questions asked one way or the other. I can trust him not to squander away his savings and he can trust me to spend his money wisely and well. I was a business girl before I got married and I had worked myself into a responsible position, and my husband feels that if I was able to manage the office of a big corporation, I am capable of managing his little love nest, and we get along beautifully. Now what do you think of us?

EFFICIENT WIFE.
Seems to me congratulatory as due to the part of you because you have a husband who allows you to do as you please and you seem best, and to him for having a wife so prudent, so industrious and so economical.

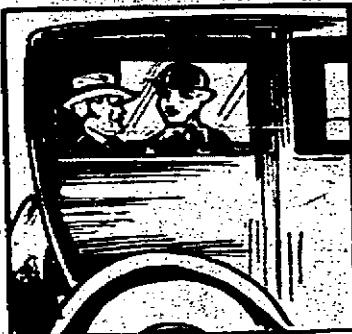

Dear Dolly—Will you please print a recipe for candied orange peel.
DAILY READER.

When peeling the orange cut the rind into quarters, then cut into long thin strips. Put into a pan and cover with cold water, bring to the boiling point and drain. Allow one and one-half cups of granulated sugar and a cup of water to six oranges; put this into a granite pan and bring to a rapid boiling point. Add the orange peel and boil down quickly. When the syrup is almost cooked away, take the pan off the fire and stir in a cup of granulated sugar. Stir until almost cold, separate strips and lay on platter to cool.

Dear Dolly—Do you know of any way that I could wash my linen dresses to make them look like they are when new? They have such a nice glossy look when new and after they are washed they never look so nice. How can I preserve this nice look?

BUSINESS GIRL.
If you will make a thin hot starch with soapy water, you will find that it gives a gloss to linen and prevents the iron sticking to the surface of the article. Personally I don't like starched clothes, and would rather have my linen dresses look dull than to have them starched. If you will iron them while damp they will look better.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Burton

THE EGOSIPS AND THE CRACKER BARREL

"Why, Mister Bags, the cracker barrel is empty!"

Mister Bags' store in the woods was a great place for all the neighborhood folk to meet and gossip. One day old Daddy Cracknuts came in and asked the price of a new kind of smoking tobacco, and Mister Bunn came in to use the telephone, and old Ringtail Coon was passing and looked in to ask Mister Bags the time of day.

And so it went until there was quite a party.

"It looks like rain," said Mister Bunn wisely, when he had finished talking on the telephone and said, "Much obliged," to Mister Bags, the fairman storekeeper.

Everybody considered this a moment.

"What do you think, Mister Groundhog?" asked Ringtail Coon. "You're our oldest inhabitant." And of course, being the oldest inhabitant, he was expected to know everything. It was suspected that Mister Bags' senior, was the very oldest inhabitant, but as Mister Bags' senior and no one else could remember, it couldn't be proved on him.

Besides Ringtail rather liked the hog.

Ringtail absent minded took a cracker out of the cracker barrel before he answered. "Well," said he, "I don't know. It might be going to rain, and then again it might not. But I would say that if it hadn't rained by midnight, it won't rain today."

And having delivered himself of this wise speech, he took another out of the cracker barrel and started to munch at it reflectively.

"Did I tell you what happened to

SOCIAL NEWS

The committee and officers of P. H. S. Alumni held a meeting Wednesday evening in Superintendent Frank Appert's office to prepare the annual alumni banquet which will be held in the high school dining room on the evening of Friday, June 6.

An many representatives as possible from all the older classes were urged to be present to welcome the class of 1924. The speakers will be Charles B. Hard, graduate of P. H. S., former newspaper editor and secretary to the late President Harding. Although all plans have not been completed, the committee wished to urge a large attendance of the alumni. The committee includes Dr. Harry Rayn, president; Mrs. Charles Storck, vice president; Miss Vesta Stockham, secretary; Miss Louise Dinmore, chairman of the program committee; Mrs. W. R. Sprague, Mrs. Harry King, Dr. Clyde Fitch, and Mrs. Frank A. Fisher. The meeting next Wednesday evening will be held at the same place.

Mrs. Thomas J. Maxwell, of Fremont, Ohio, Department President of the American Legion Auxiliary of Ohio, was the guest of Mrs. W. H. Doerr of Fourth street, president of the James Dickey Unit, while in the city to address an open meeting of the Legion on Wednesday evening.

Mrs. and Mrs. Albert Herms of Sixth street have moved to their summer camp on Scioto Trail, where they will reside during the summer months. Their phone number is 1858-N.

A large and appreciative audience greeted Mrs. Thomas J. Maxwell, of Fremont, Ohio, when she addressed an open meeting in the American Legion Hall, Seventh and Gay streets, Wednesday evening. Mrs. Maxwell is Department President of the American Legion Auxiliary of Ohio, and is a very capable and popular speaker.

Mrs. W. H. Doerr, local president of the Legion Auxiliary, in introducing Mrs. Maxwell, said that she was brought here to give the members and their friends a broader vision of the aims and ambitions of the organization. Mrs. Maxwell also gave a short resume of the local unit, which was organized in 1921 and now has 78 members.

Mrs. Maxwell said that the particular work for the Auxiliary was among the fifteen hundred disabled soldiers of Ohio. The Auxiliary has spent $2,000 in two years in relief work throughout the state. Continuing, Mrs. Maxwell said: "This organization is complete. There are phases which the government does not do. We do those little things to keep the men happy, and contented. We give them a glimpse of the government to help the boys who do not receive a compensation. We have also taken the responsibility of looking after the orphans of the World War, 100 of whom are in the Xenia Home. We are also working to establish a service club in each town. Plans are now under way to convert a 42 room house in that city into a Service Club for men who visit Washington to press claims, or who come out of hospitals and have to spend a night or two there.

The Auxiliary Legion Auxiliary stands for the best in the community. It cooperates with the forces that are right. The whole idea of the Auxiliary is that of service to disabled, to orphans, to our country, and nation, and to bring up the youth and the foreign born with the same ideals."

Mrs. Maxwell also told how to hang the American flag, June 14th is flag day and every American citizen should display Old Glory on that day, as well as every other National holiday. A new rule for hanging the flag was adopted by the Flag Conference held in Washington recently, and is as follows:

"Imagine you have a map of America before you, and you are going to cover the map. The blue field of the flag is always over Alaska."

The Auxiliary Quartette, composed of Mrs. James E. Brezee, Mrs. James D. Williams, Miss Helen Matthews, and Miss Ethel Doerr, sang two pleasing numbers, with piano accompaniment by Mrs. George F. Matthews. Miss Helen Matthews also sang a beautiful solo.

The employees of the Portsmouth Bi-Products Company will enjoy a dance this evening at the Elks Club. The committee in charge includes Mrs. E. E. Sister, Misses Violet Marsh, Marcella Billian, and Gladys McClain. Music will be furnished by Journey's Orchestra.

Mrs. Robert P. Willis (Margaret Centigimble) of 1414 Lincoln street, underwent an operation Thursday morning at Mercy Hospital. Her friends will be pleased to learn that she rallied nicely and is getting along very well.

SAYS

And now the Chinese influence has given us a new color. "Pig-tail blue" is a smart nod of silk art cord which I found at the fashion, just as it was emerging from its tissue wrappings. A demure little frock it is, with the straightest of lines, and just a suggestion of coquetry in the little cape which fastens with pearl buttons at the shoulder line and swings jauntily as its wearer walks. The white satin collar becomes a tie and pulls through the front of the blouse, and matching white satin faces the sleeves.

JACK DAW'S ADVENTURES — UNDER THE CIRCUS TENT

The clown quickly grabbed Flip and set him on his feet again. Jack crawled back into the little cart. In the meantime, the little children around the circus ring were greatly enjoying the fun. Suddenly the little white rabbit started out directly in front of Flip.

Before Jack knew it, his dog was racing fast as he could, after the rabbit. The little cart swayed from side to side and every minute Flip expected to be tipped over again. Flip kept getting closer and closer to the little animal and a great cry went up from the crowd.

"Don't let your dog get the rabbit!" shouted one of them. "Make Flip stop!" yelled another. By this time Jack realized that the little rabbit was in danger and he started shouting to Flip to stop. But just then the big came to a little white box and he leaped inside. (Continued.)

State Meeting of B. and P. W. Clubs to be Held in Cincinnati

The State Federation of the Business and Professional Women's Clubs will hold its annual meeting in Cincinnati May 30 and 31.

Among women scheduled to make speeches are Judge Florence Allen of the Ohio Supreme Court and honorary president of the Cleveland Business Women's Club, and Miss Mary Stewart of Washington, D. C., head of the Juvenile Division of the Federal Vocational Department of the Bureau of Labor.

Women of varied and interesting occupations are among the delegates from Ohio towns. One of the women who will attend the convention is Mrs. Zella McBerry, president of the Warren Club. She now is traveling abroad and delivering lectures before engineering societies on "Resistance Welding."

This is the fifth annual convention of the State Federation. Delegates from the seventy-two Ohio Clubs numbering about 1,000 are expected to attend. Headquarters will be at the Hotel Gibson and the handsome new home of the Cincinnati Business Women's Club, Miss Alice L. Engelhardt of Cincinnati, who is numbered among the first ten business women of the country, is in charge of the arrangements. The banquet will be on Friday evening on the Roof Garden of the Gibson Hotel.

A number of members of the Portsmouth Business Women's Club are making plans to attend the Convention.

Testimony in the case of Charles McGraw and Riller McGraw, charged with disorderly conduct in connection with alleged threats against Mrs. L. Runkle, was partially heard by Judge Sprague in Municipal court today and then continued until Saturday to give the defendants an opportunity to bring witnesses into court to give evidence in their behalf. The parties live neighbors at Sherer Hollow, North Morland.

New Front Installed

Norton Cunningham is having a new front installed in his property on Second street just west of Court, which formerly was owned by Doerr Bros.

YOU POOR KID, WHY ARE YOU SO SKINNY?

Don't your mother know that Cod Liver Oil will put pounds of good flesh on your bones in just a few weeks?

Tell her every druggist has it in sugar-coated tablet form now so that you won't have to take the nasty, fishy tasting oil that is apt to upset the stomach.

One sickly, thin kid, aged 9, gained 21 pounds in 7 months.

Rev. Sanford at Portsmouth Man Thanks "Dreco" for Bigelow Sunday Relieving Chronic Stomach Disorders

Rev. J. Sanford, who will speak at the morning service of Bigelow Methodist Episcopal Church Sunday, is the constant superintendent of the Ohio Anti-Slavery League, with which organization he has been connected for the past 18 years. He secured his training for service at Denison University, Granville, Ohio, and College Theological Seminary, Hamilton, New York.

His most effective work has been as a public speaker, convincing proof of which lies in the fact that he has most acceptably delivered his message in practically every important co-operating church in Ohio, not once but many times. Just now his message deals with obedience to law and its enforcement from a Biblical standpoint, an issue which is demanding the serious consideration of all loyal citizens. You should hear this able man.

Mr. Bolton tells Dreco Expert at Stewart's Cut Rate Drug Store how new herbal remedy quickly overcomes dizziness, indigestion, gas and heartburn.

Appetite Returns. Sleeps Fine. Feels Better Than in Years.

Ever since local folks have had a chance to try Dreco the remarkable herbal tonic which was introduced here recently by the Dreco Expert at Stewart's Cut Rate Drug Store, you can hear praise of this grand remedy wherever you go. Mr. George Bolton, R. F. D. No. 1, Portsmouth, Ohio, a popular employee of the Whitaker-Glessner steel plant is one of the latest to praise it publicly. He says: "For several years I have suffered agonies from indigestion, gastritis and heartburn. I got dizzy spells so bad that I almost toppled over at times and pains in my back and limbs caused me so much misery at times I didn't care if I lived or died. I tried remedy after remedy but until the Dreco Expert persuaded me to try Dreco they were all to no avail. "I took home a bottle and after the first few doses began to get relief and before the first bottle was gone I was eating like a normal man and sleeping fine. Now all my troubles are over. My stomach is in such good shape I'm never bothered with gas, indigestion, heartburn or constipation any more and I feel better than in years. I'm certainly glad to recommend this grand tonic to everyone." Dreco cures a lazy liver, gives strength to weak kidneys, aids the stomach in digesting the food and relieves constipation. The action of Dreco is pleasant and remarkably quick. (Call today at Stewart's Drug Store and ask for Mr. O'Connor, the expert from the Dreco Laboratories. He will courteously tell you of the merits of this wonderful remedy. Also be will honestly tell you whether or not he thinks Dreco will benefit you.—Advertisement.)

Derby Candidates are Ready; Black Gold May Be Favorite

LOUISVILLE, KY., May 16.—Indications today were that a field of between 15 and 20 three year old colts would start in the Golden Jubilee Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs Saturday. In the event the track is muddy several eligibles probably will be scratched if such superior muds as Black Gold and Altawood will start. Each horse will carry 126 pounds over the derby distance at a mile and a quarter. The prize is $50,000 in added money and $5,000 in gold plate.

Ordinance, who set a mile record of 1:38 2-5 at Jamaica yesterday, may be a starter. On the strength of his showing his trainer, Louis Feustel, has received permission from the owner, August Belmont, to start the son of Ormonde-Dona Roca in the derby.

The probable condition of the track caused considerable speculation. The course is now in fair shape only, due to recent rains. Favorable weather, however, tomorrow and Saturday morning would make it fast.

Black Gold probably will be the public choice in the betting, although large commissions may make the Itanecass stable entries, Mad Play and Barneadale, favorites before the bugle calls the field to the post.

The Whitney entry in previous years has fared poorly, but curiously enough the stable's colors never have been in front since its fully. Regret, won in 1915.

J. L. Kendall, in charge of the weather bureau said today a prediction of a fair pleasant afternoon for the derby is out of the question. Weather conditions throughout the country are unsettled that it is hard to make a forecast for 24 hours, he said.

Kept Awake by Nervous Hear

Many people are often kept awake for hours at night by a peculiar nervous feeling in the heart region. Sometimes the distress begins as soon as you lie down, but occasionally you are awakened out of a sound sleep by the heart fluttering or pounding. Such an attack may be accompanied by extreme nervousness or a terrible feeling of oppression. Perhaps you struggle and gasp for breath, wondering if each moment is your last on earth.

Most persons troubled in this way blame the heart, when in reality the trouble is caused by gas in the stomach pressing against the heart. Where the discomfort is caused by gas, Epsom Gas Tablets will generally bring relief within a few minutes. They prevent gas from accumulating in the stomach and bowels and help to end the trouble permanently. Epsom Gas Tablets price $1.00 a package. Sold in Portsmouth by Fisher & Streich Pharmacy and all leading druggists. Boerliche & Hansen Co., Mrs. San Francisco—Advertisement.

Will Teach Class At First Christian

Following their policy of having something worth while and something different as often as the circumstances will permit, the officers of First Christian Bible school announce that Dr. Alva Taylor, social secretary of the Brotherhood of the Disciples of Christ, will be in the city Sunday and will teach the lesson at the Bible school session, to the adult department.

Dr. Taylor is a man who stands high in the Brotherhood as the position he holds would indicate and the fact that he is associated with representatives of other congregations in the work of the "flying squadron" is another recommendation that gives him a high standing with brethren of other churches.

Added to this is the fact that he is a personal friend of Rev. Rev. Culbertson, the pastor of First Christian, and he gives him an A-1 recommendation.

The invitation to hear Dr. Taylor is extended to all those who care to hear the lesson presented in an interesting and instructive way and by an orator of power and ability. The Men of the Bible school are especially interested and helpful in putting on these teaching programs from week to week and they are greatly interested in the coming of men of Dr. Taylor's type.

ACID IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

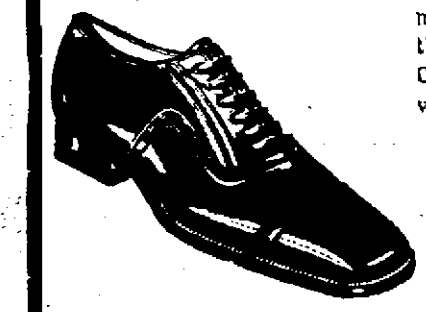

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain, How To Treat

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestants are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. For laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Hissrated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Hissrated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or mixed with anything) is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.—Advertisement.

This Woman Found Out Facts
She Couldn't Be Beautiful and Half Sick

"I want to tell you of my wonderful experience. Six months ago I was so thin and so sick that all my friends asked about my health. I told them I was weak but naturally thin, even when I longed for more weight and the clear skin that used to be mine. Because one of my neighbors said World's Tonic had added to her weight, I bought it. I was so ashamed of taking any medicine that I hid it from my husband. World's Tonic is a health restorer. It gives the body just the aid it needs to do its work properly. A really healthy woman is always attractive. Sold for $1.00 per bottle by the Service Drug Co., and all other reliable druggists.—advertisement."

Benefit Came Quickly

"When I was halfway through the first bottle I noticed its benefit. I felt better, and my skin took on a little color. In a couple of weeks I began to gain flesh. To make a long story short, in four months I gained twenty pounds, and the sallowness left my skin. All my friends commented on my improved looks. I wouldn't tell any of them why, but since the improvement was permanent I think I ought to tell other people that I didn't realize I was half reliable druggists.—advertisement."

Michigan Democrats Read
Henry Ford Out of Party

FLINT, Mich., May 16.—(By the A. P.)—A clash over whether delegates to the Democratic national convention should vote as a unit, precipitated an uproarious tumult at the state Democratic convention yesterday, which ended only in a motion to adjourn, adopted by disordered acclamation. The motion for the unit rule was withdrawn just before adjournment so the 30 delegates will go to New York unopposed except to vote for Senator Woodbridge M. Ferris, as long as he has a chance. Ram Composite Mixture
The conflict appeared to be a composite mixture of William G. McAdoo and Al Smith sentiment, the wet and dry issue and the Ku Klux Klan controversy although no one admitted that it was anything more than a test of the feeling of the convention toward the unit rule. In addition to sending an uninstructed delegation to the national convention the Democrats virtually read Henry Ford out of the party. Senator Ferris who addressed the convention yesterday attacked the automobile manufacturer's bid for Muscle Shoals as "an attempt to sell out the people." He asserted that he knew what the outcome would be in the presidential primary when Ford's name went on the ballot. Handles Henry Rough Following his advice a resolution stating that Henry Ford had publicly endorsed President Coolidge, that he had never withdrawn his candidacy on the Democratic ticket, and that the Democrats of Michigan, ignore him and his supporters, was adopted. The convention went on record favoring law enforcement. The Ku Klux Klan issue was disposed of in a resolution and affirming the stand that no person should be required to make any profession of religious faith in order to assume public office.

Deplores Washington Record
Resolutions in addition to those mentioned were adopted, demanding that the Washington Investigations continue until corruption is stamped out, belaboring the Fordney-McCumber tariff and the Esch Cummins transportation act, recommending a popular referendum on the League of Nations, deploring the "disgraceful record made by the government at Washington and insisting that the 'hold on Wall Street,' on the federal reserve system be broken."

Women Demand Proof
Parade Not Patriotic

CLEVELAND, O., May 16.—Protesting against the action of the Chamber of Commerce in condemning the proposed peace parade here May 18, the Women's Council for the Prevention of War today sent the chamber a letter demanding that it show "proof" that the parade was instigated by outside organizations with unpatriotic aims. Resolutions passed by the chamber directors yesterday calling on the women to "reconsider their plans were characterized as unfair and unwarranted on the grounds that the women to reconsider their plans sent their case in the chamber's investigation. Safety Director Ed Barry announced he will not stop the parade, in which it is expected 20,000 women will participate.

Horse Trainer on Trial
For Killing Track Judge

AKRON, O., May 16.—Nine tentative jurors, four women, had been selected to try Marion Webb, Clinton, Mo., horse trainer, charged with first degree murder, when court adjourned today. Eight prospective jurors were examined and excused during the day. Webb is charged with having shot and killed racing judge Fred W. Gerhardt, Detroit, in the lobby of a hotel here Oct. 30, after he had been ruled off American tracks during the racing at Northampton.

Will Fight Any Change
In Mine Rating Rules

CINCINNATI, May 16.—Any change of the mine rating rules of the interstate commerce commission "unless and until they are given a fair test under car shortage conditions," will be fought by the National Coal association representing nearly 2,000 bituminous operators from 21 states. This was decided on by the directors attending the annual convention of the association here tonight when endorsement was given to the report of the transportation committee. The report sets forth opposition "in principle to the use of a commercial factor in the rating of coal mines."

Tomorrow election of officers will be held and the committee on resolutions will make its report.

Denies He Furnished
Protection To Group
Of Beer Peddlers

CLEVELAND, May 16.—Denial that he had furnished protection to beer runners was made by William J. Walzer, Austintown constable, who with Pat Scanlon, Youngstown politician, and Peter Adams, Hubbard, O., night watchman at the Smith Products company brewery in Youngstown, is on trial in federal court here on charges of conspiracy.

Taking the stand in his own defense, Walzer also contradicted testimony of William Rudd and Frank P. Sansburg, truck drivers, who already pleaded guilty to conspiracy charges. Walzer denied among other things that when he arrested Rudd he took him to the office of Scanlon and arranged for the payment of the fine, or that he said he had tried to get as small a fine for Rudd as possible.

Quinn Regrets Action

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 16.—"I regret that the president has seen fit to veto the adjusted compensation measure," declared John H. Quinn, national commander of the United American Legion when he learned of the president's action today. "I am not familiar with his reasons. However, the ex-service men and women and their dependents look with confidence to both houses of congress to enact this just measure into law."

DENIES BEER CHARGE

CLEVELAND, May 16.—Henry Ellert, head of the Elbert Beverage company, here, in a telegram to United States Senator Frank B. Willis of Ohio, today denied that real beer was manufactured by the company, as was charged by H. J. Burton, former prohibition agent here.

Workshop Inspectors Order New Garage
Closed; Must Reinforce Spry Block

As a result of the activities of E. A. Everbach, state inspector of workshops and factories, acting with the cooperation of Fire Chief Robert Lee, a new garage to Portsmouth has been ordered closed because it was not built in accordance with code requirements; construction of another garage has been allowed to proceed pending submission of plans to the state department of industrial relations.

Market streets and is owned by the Spry estate, according to Chief Leedom. The north wall is claimed, is bulging at the top, and developing a crack, and use of the hall for public meetings was therefore ordered by Inspector Everbach to be discontinued, until the wall can be repaired. Use of the two lower floors is not affected by the order.

The garage ordered closed is one operated in the name "Warlock and Snelson," on Fourth street between Offshore and Glover. Inspector Everbach claims that it was built of steel and sheet iron, since a section of law became effective prohibiting construction of public garages otherwise than of brick or concrete. The garage is operated as a repair shop.

Plans for all garages, in accordance with this code requirement, must be submitted to the state department of industrial relations. Under this requirement, Dr. Howard Williamson has been ordered to submit to the state department the plans for his garage on Gallia street in "Automobile Row" off Eighth street. Construction is allowed to proceed while plans are being approved, as according to the inspector the type of construction is that approved by the code, and the approval of plans in this case will amount to little more than a formality.

Chief Leedom is also conducting Assistant Fire Marshal William Hartman of Columbus on a tour of local schools, during which fire prevention facilities are being examined and fire drills conducted.

Grandson's Experience Proves Its Value to This Portsmouth Family

The experience of Mr. Edward Fyfe of 1801 Front street, who is connected with the N. & W. railroad and that of his grand-son, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Pollitt of 841 Front Street is another typical example of the power of Peppin, the medicine now being introduced by J. E. Young through Fisher & Strickland's pharmacy, to relieve long standing ills.

In speaking of his experience, Mr. Fyfe in part said:

"About four months ago a blow on my leg injured the nerves in my leg and I was laid up in bed for about two months with rheumatism. During this period I lost all appetite and became run down. When I did get back to work I would have to lay off one or two days out of every week. It did not seem like I could get back in shape. My leg kept hurting me and I got real nervous. I did not seem to want to eat anything. All food tasted just alike.

"About four weeks ago my grandmother, Mrs. Pollitt, suggested that I try taking Peppin, the medicine being introduced at Fisher and Strickland's. I told her I would take a bottle if she would get it for me, so she sent down for a bottle.

"Peppin has surely done wonders for me. Before the first bottle was gone I commenced to eat and sleep fine. Now I have gained over 25 pounds in weight. The rheumatism pains in my leg are gone and I feel better in every way. I can truthfully recommend Peppin as being a remarkable medicine."

Grandmother Follows Her Own Advice

"After I saw how much good

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Pollitt

Peppin was doing my grandson," said Mrs. E. F. Pollitt, "I decided I had better commence taking it."

"I have had attacks of rheumatism for some years and my nerves were in poor shape.

"It was just two weeks ago that I got my first bottle of Peppin and now I too can, because of the good it has done me, speak a good word for it."

"I suppose I was just generally run down. My digestion was not proper and I suffered from lack of good, sound, healthy sleep. At times I became dizzy and had severe headaches. In the mornings, particularly, I would get up feeling sluggish and with that tired, don't care feeling. Then, when we would have a spell of bad weather my limbs would ache with rheumatic pains.

"Three bottles of Peppin have made a wonderful change in me. I sleep sound every night and get up in the morning just as full of life and energy as I can be. These recent rains have not caused me to have a bit of rheumatism. I just feel better all over and Peppin is what did it. Now I have gotten Mr. Pollitt to take a course of Peppin and he is just as glad to recommend Peppin as I am for it's doing him good too."

CAUTION: The GENUINE PEPPIN, which these well known Portsmouth people have recommended is packed in a white and blue carton and can be obtained in Portsmouth only at Fisher and Strickland's Pharmacy, corner Sixth and Chillicothe streets, where it is being introduced under the personal direction of J. E. Young.

Socialist Victors In French Elections Now Speculate on Next Move

PARIS, May 16.—(By the A. P.)—The socialists are beginning to wonder what they fought for in the recent elections and what good their victory is going to do them. The radical leaders are holding quite aloof from them, and divisions are breaking out in their own ranks over the future policy of the party.

Paul Boncour, who was a minister of labor once, and Pierre Renaudel, who succeeded M. Jaures as leader of the party and was beaten four years ago, however, returned to the chamber and have ministerial ambitions. They are opposed by what are called the "pure socialists," who stick to the theory that the socialists are the party destined to fight the battle of the classes.

They point to the case of Millerand, Briand and Viviani, who after a taste of power, ceased to be socialists in the extreme acceptance of the term.

Patterson was also required to pay the costs and his right to drive the motorcycle for sixty days was suspended. Yancey was exonerated of all blame in connection with the collision. He declared that he had never taken a drink of liquor in his life.

Hughes Gets Medal, Says Good Will Needed to Keep Peace

NEW YORK, May 16.—(By the A. P.)—Cultivation of international good will is the only assurance of peace, Secretary Hughes declared last night in an address delivered in accepting the gold medal awarded him by the National Institute of Social Sciences.

Touching upon the foreign relations of the United States, Mr. Hughes mentioned specifically, only Central American matters and the reparations problem. He made no direct reference to the Japanese exclusion situation.

The first object of foreign policy is security and "so far as we can see into the future we are safe from the slightest danger of aggression," Mr. Hughes said.

Can Care for Ourselves
"We know that no power or possible combination of powers lies any menace to our security," he continued. "There is no occasion to vindicate our proper authority for no one challenges it. There is no reason to demonstrate our ability to take care of ourselves for no one doubts it."

"It should be easy for us to cultivate friendships. That is the way to gain the opportunities of intercourse which we seek throughout the world. We are a peaceful people and it is well for us to remember that we rely on friendship and good will, not on force or threats of force, to extend our influence and win adherence to our international proposals."

Turn to Conciliation
"But there is more involved than the adoption of suitable methods to protect our own interests important as they are. How can we promote the peace of the world? The most promising way is to preserve the opportunities of conciliation and adjustment, which naturally belong to us, by forcing a friendly disposition."

Turning to the reparations question in Europe Secretary Hughes said, "There is a promise of a new era in recent reports. With solution of the problem, he said, 'would come opportunity further to limit armament and expenditures which are introduced by distrust.'"

Need Law Enforcement
He pointed out that a recent report by a special committee of the American Bar association, disclosed that "we make an unfortunate showing as compared with other nations" in the enforcement of criminal law.

"What is needed is not gossip about crime for the spread of scandalous rumor but immediate prosecution, conviction and punishment," he said. "It is time also that we give serious thought to the question whether the privilege against self-incrimination should be maintained."

Postal Employee Short In Accounts, Arrested

CLEVELAND, May 16.—William Wisniewski, 25, assistant postmaster under his father John Wisniewski, at Independence village, was arrested late today by Federal authorities on a charge of embezzling $13,000 in money order and stamp funds. The arrest followed a check of the funds extending over two years.

Postoffice Inspector S. Siegrist said the accused man admitted having taken some money, but denied it was as much as claimed. Wisniewski was brought to Cleveland and placed in jail for a hearing before United States Commissioner M. J. Monahan tomorrow.

Holycross Knew Man Was Making Rum, Claim
COLUMBUS, May 16.—Illegal manufacture of whiskey was carried on during part of 1922 by Dr. Walter Hempy, veterinarian, Grove Port, with the consent and knowledge of Sheriff Frank L. Holycross, on trial on a charge of alleged acceptance of bribe, Hempy testified today.

Hempy testified he had promised the sheriff "to make it worth while." The witness testified that the sheriff gave his consent to the operation of a still on his (Hempy's) farm after they had had several conferences.

Mr. Langley, the physician stated, had become ill probably as a result of the strain of his trial at Covington, Ky., at which he was on duty of violating the prohibition laws.

INDIANAPOLIS LADY GIVES TANLAC CREDIT

Nerves Seemed Shattered Following Operation, Says Mrs. Stella Fishback.

"Good health counts for more than anything else in this world and as good health is what Tanlac has brought me I can speak of it only in the highest praise," is the grateful statement of Mrs. Stella Fishback, a charming resident of 1429 Cornell Avenue, Indianapolis, Ind.

Following an operation about a year ago my nerves seemed hopelessly shattered and my strength gone for good. My blood seemed thin, too, for I was pale as a ghost and so weak that I simply dragged around.

"It wasn't long after I began taking Tanlac until my complexion cleared up and my friends were talking about the wonderful change that had come over me. I have gained nineteen pounds and am enjoying excellent health for which I give Tanlac all the credit."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 million bottles sold.

HIS BROTHER'S WIFE

by RUDY AYRES
© NEA SERVICE

BEGIN HERE TODAY
The marriage of Dolly and Nigel Bretherton proves unhappy. When war is declared, Nigel is glad to enlist. He leaves Dolly in the care of Mary Funnival.

Nigel is killed and Dolly marries an old suitor and calls to America with him. Word comes of the sinking of their ship. When Nigel's brother, David, calls to see Nigel's widow, Mary, as ashamed to tell him of Dolly's marriage.

David mistakes Mary for his brother's wife and takes her to Red Grange to live with him and his aunt. A letter comes to Mary from Dolly saying that she and her husband are safe. Monty Fisher tells David that Mary is not Nigel's widow. David says he has already found that out.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
"You know your own business best, of course," he said, with an effort, "but it is my duty to warn you that you are doing a very foolish thing. What has become of Nigel's widow, then?"

"I have no more idea than you have. I have never seen her in my life," Bretherton laughed a little.

"Don't look so worried, Monty. I'm not a child. I think you can trust me to manage my own affairs. Believe me, I've a very good reason for doing what I am."

"The woman's an adventuress! It's a scandalous affair!" Fisher flushed up as he spoke. He had never known till now how much he would have liked to see his sister married to David. He was shrewd enough to guess that it was not mere curiosity that had prevented David from turning Mary Funnival out of the house.

Miss Varney came into the room just then, and put a stop to further conversation. Her first question was for Mary.

She glanced at Fisher apologetically as she spoke.

"It's extraordinary how I miss the dear child if she is out of the room for long," she said. "It's wonderful how she has grown to be part of our lives, isn't it, David?"

David did not answer and Miss Varney went on.

"But of course, you know her well, Mr. Fisher. You saw a great deal of poor Nigel, didn't you?"

"Not a great deal. And I think only met his wife once or twice."

"Well, you will see a great deal of her now if you come to Red Grange," he said innocently. "It is my sincere wish that she makes a permanent home with us."

Fisher did not answer. He was wondering what Mary would do now she knew herself discovered. He had read a great deal in her eyes. He almost wished that he had been on the spot to David; that he had been on the spot to David; that he had been on the spot to David.

When Mary came in to tea he made himself particularly pleasant to her. He said that he hoped she would take advantage of his sister's invitation, and come to stay with them in town.

"Dora will be pleased to have you," he said, and wonderful directly afterwards what made him say it.

He knew perfectly well that Dora never cared at all for her own sex; he remembered distinctly what she had said about Mary.

Mary thanked him but neither refused nor consented; she only spoke when she was pointedly addressed.

"You are very quiet, my dear; have you a headache?" asked Miss Varney suddenly.

"No—I don't know. Perhaps I am a little tired."

Involuntarily she raised her eyes to David; he was looking at her steadily. The color rushed into her face; she hid her lip.

What did he know? she wondered. What had Fisher said to him, if he had said anything? She could not believe that he knew the truth as yet; she was sure that if he had done so he would have turned her out of the house then and there.

And Dolly was not dead, she had not gone down with the Multane, as she had believed; there was not even that excuse for her to offer.

Well, it would soon be over and done with. These weeks at the Red Grange would soon just be a dream that had been dispelled by the searching light of day; she would go quietly away that night without a word of farewell.

And perhaps then they would forget, and forgive her, remembering that she had only lived there, taking nothing but her food and a bed to sleep in.

No doubt they would call her an adventuress. The name brought a quivering smile to her lips, she felt so unlike an adventuress. At heart she was just a lonely woman who had dared to steal a breath of happiness which was never rightly hers.

Fortune, favored the gardener, and called to see one of the gardeners, and Miss Varney went with him; she and Fisher were left alone.

CHAPTER XLII.
"Why Did You Do It?"

With the soft closing of the door, Mary started to her feet. She felt somehow desperate; the strain of the afternoon had worn her nerves to the point of collapse. There was a bright spot of color in either cheek as she faced the man standing so quietly on the hearthrug.

"Well!" The word seemed forced from her; her breath came chokingly with her halting explanation.

"Dolly married again. I thought you knew. Didn't you know?" She married when—when Nigel had only been dead a few days and I was so ashamed for her. I didn't want David—Mr. Bretherton—to know. And when he came to see me I let him think that I was Dolly. I never actually told him so, but somehow he seemed to take it for granted, and then—then, when he asked me to come here—She stopped; she could not go in.

"Then—where is—Mrs. Nigel?" Fisher's voice sounded incredulous. Mary had a feeling that he did not believe what she had told him. She answered him hesitatingly.

"She went to the Argentine with her husband. She went in the Multane."

"The Multane? The Multane was lost at sea?"

"Yes."

"Good heavens!"

He pressed the subject no further; he concluded that Dolly and her husband had gone down with the ill-fated ship.

"And so—you thought you were safe?" he said.

Her eyes flashed angrily.

"I don't understand you. If you think that I meant to try and take Dolly's place here forever, if you think that I wanted to steal what was hers, you are wrong—quite wrong. I have taken no money at all from Mr. Bretherton; I should never think of doing so. But—oh, I think I just wanted to live the life they lead for a little. I've always been so poor; always had to tough it."

Her voice broke.

Fisher moved away. It annoyed him because he felt so sympathetic. It made him feel as if he had behaved like a coward—striking at this woman behind her back.

"And what are you going to do now?" he asked.

She let her hands fall restlessly into the lap of her black frock.

"I don't know. I shall have to go away. I never meant to stay for long, even if you hadn't come and recognized me."

"You mean that you will tell David the truth?"

She gave a little cry.

"Oh, no, no! I couldn't! There was a sharp protest in her voice. She thought I would just go quietly away somewhere. Oh, I could never tell them. They have both been so kind to me."

Fisher walked away from her to the window. He stood looking out into the darkening garden for a moment. Suddenly he turned, and came back.

"You know where you can find me, if ever I am of help to you," he said abruptly.

She looked amazed. The ready tears rushed to her eyes.

See DODGE BROTHERS Four Passenger Coupe

She knew that her only grief was the thought of leaving David. She was ashamed because it was so, ashamed that she, who had once loved his brother, should now care so much—much more for him.

She could not tell Fisher that she had first come to Red Grange because she had wanted to be in Nigel's home. It seemed now as if that had never been a true reason; she stumbled on with her halting explanation.

"Dolly married again. I thought you knew. Didn't you know?" She married when—when Nigel had only been dead a few days and I was so ashamed for her. I didn't want David—Mr. Bretherton—to know. And when he came to see me I let him think that I was Dolly. I never actually told him so, but somehow he seemed to take it for granted, and then—then, when he asked me to come here—She stopped; she could not go in.

"Then—where is—Mrs. Nigel?" Fisher's voice sounded incredulous. Mary had a feeling that he did not believe what she had told him. She answered him hesitatingly.

"She went to the Argentine with her husband. She went in the Multane."

"The Multane? The Multane was lost at sea?"

"Yes."

"Good heavens!"

He pressed the subject no further; he concluded that Dolly and her husband had gone down with the ill-fated ship.

"And so—you thought you were safe?" he said.

Her eyes flashed angrily.

"I don't understand you. If you think that I meant to try and take Dolly's place here forever, if you think that I wanted to steal what was hers, you are wrong—quite wrong. I have taken no money at all from Mr. Bretherton; I should never think of doing so. But—oh, I think I just wanted to live the life they lead for a little. I've always been so poor; always had to tough it."

Her voice broke.

Fisher moved away. It annoyed him because he felt so sympathetic. It made him feel as if he had behaved like a coward—striking at this woman behind her back.

"And what are you going to do now?" he asked.

She let her hands fall restlessly into the lap of her black frock.

"I don't know. I shall have to go away. I never meant to stay for long, even if you hadn't come and recognized me."

"You mean that you will tell David the truth?"

She gave a little cry.

"Oh, no, no! I couldn't! There was a sharp protest in her voice. She thought I would just go quietly away somewhere. Oh, I could never tell them. They have both been so kind to me."

Fisher walked away from her to the window. He stood looking out into the darkening garden for a moment. Suddenly he turned, and came back.

"You know where you can find me, if ever I am of help to you," he said abruptly.

She looked amazed. The ready tears rushed to her eyes.

Foley Declines Post of Leader of Tammany Hall

NEW YORK, May 16.—(By the A. P.)—Tammany Hall, which spent the day rejoicing in the fact that Surrogate James A. Foley, had accepted the leadership of the organization, today when the Surrogate positively declined to accept the post left vacant by the death of his step-father-in-law, Chas. P. Murphy. He said he was not physically fit to assume the responsibilities. It was known that he did not want the position, but it was generally understood last night that he had yielded to the persistent pleadings of Governor Smith, Norman E. Mack, Democratic committeeman from New York, and other close friends.

Today, however, it developed that he had not actually accepted the post last night, although announcement that he had done so was made by Tammany leaders.

A hurry call was sent out late today for another meeting of the executive committee of Tammany, to be held behind closed doors at the Wigwam tonight. William Allen, chairman of the committee, said the election of another leader will be made in a few days.

75,000 To Witness Derby; Louisville Is Thronged

LOUISVILLE, KY., May 16.—Never before in the history of any Kentucky derby has Louisville been visited by such a throng as has settled down here for the great horse race tomorrow. A hotel rooming bath is nothing short of a luxury. It is estimated that 75,000 persons will view the race. Many of them have already arrived but a great host is yet to come. Almost hourly, trains are bringing thousands of additional guests from New York, from Chicago, from the south and from the far west. A visitor so benighted as to arrive without hotel reservations is due to spend an interesting evening in the city park. A newly erected hotel with reservations for 700, was sold out weeks ago. The three other principal hotels and others are similarly situated. Louisville has about as many guests as it can accommodate at one time.

Arrested twice within four days on a charge of possessing moonshine, is the record of Martha Holloway of New Boston. Tuesday she was arrested by the village officers, who claim they found about a drink in a half pint bottle in her home. She was fined $100 and costs on that charge.

She was released on $200 cash bond yesterday and today in May 16, H. Bierley's court was fined $300 and costs on a second complaint.

A man giving his name as Virgil Sparks was arrested in Martha's home at the time of the raid and he was charged with possession when a search of his clothes revealed a half pint. He drew a fine of $100 and costs.

The Old Order Changeth

MODERN harvesting machinery, like this track runner which cuts grain with precision and dispatch, renders possible the delivery of fresh bread daily to millions of households in the United States. If the baking industry still had to depend on the picturesque but laborious early American method of harvesting wheat shown in the insert, such baking records as that of the Ward Baking Company, the largest bread company in America whose sixteen plants turn out one million loaves of bread a day, would be impossible of achievement.

OBITUARY

Albert Richard Turner

Albert Richard Turner, son of William and Mary Turner, was born near Union Mills, Washington Township, Ohio, November 12, 1863, being third in the family of six children.

On March 11, 1890, Mr. Turner was united in marriage to Miss Catherine Purcell, daughter of William and Mary Purcell. To this union were born three children: William of Buena Vista Pike; Roy of Portsmouth and Ethel at home, all of whom with the deceased widow survive to mourn the death of their beloved father.

Mr. Turner, as he was called by his friends, had made his home in this community since birth and was known and respected for his honest methods.

With his passing the family loses a kind and loving father and the community a friend and benefactor.

Martha E. Dean

Martha E. Dean, an old resident of Wheelersburg, was buried there Wednesday. Mrs. Dean was born at Franklin Furnace July 3, 1840, and moved to Wheelersburg when she was 17 years old. She was twice married, her first husband being the late Harvey Patton. To them were born six children, only two of whom are living: Mattie and Laura. Mr. Patton died in 1879 in Lamar, Mo. In 1882 she married R. C. Dean, who died in 1916. To them was born one son, the late Dr. Horace Dean of Columbus, who died in May, 1922.

Mrs. Dean left Wheelersburg 13 years ago to live with her son, Dr. Dean in Columbus, and was with him until his death two years ago. Then she went to live with her daughters at Washington, D. C., where she died last Sunday morning.

She was a member of the old Free Will Baptist church of Wheelersburg, and was at one time Sunday School superintendent there. When this church ceased she attended the Methodist church.

and was an ardent worker. One of her great regrets in recent years was that her failing health kept her from attending church.

Rev. Charles H. Busch, the pastor of the Methodist church, preached the funeral sermon from Job 5:28, "Thou shalt come to thy grave in a full age, like as a shock of corn cometh in its season." The theme was the beauty of old age and the ripening years, the cycle of life and the harvest time. The well known life of the deceased and her 64 years made a fitting background for the address of consolation and assurance.

Geo. B. Justice

Hugh J. Justice and Geo. W. Justice of 1414 Centre street, received word yesterday evening that their father, George B. Justice, had died at about 3:30 o'clock at his home, Louisville, Ky., where he had lived practically his entire life.

Mr. Justice had visited his sons in Portsmouth a number of times, and will be remembered by many friends. The two sons, who had spent much of their time at the bedside since their father was stricken about ten days ago, again went to Louisville early this morning.

Rev. C. A. Rhell, pastor of the First Lutheran church, is home from Canton, O., where his brother, George Rhell, aged 59, passed away, his death being caused by pneumonia. Mr. Rhell is survived by his aged father, Jacob Rhell, who is critically ill, and four brothers and one sister.

Baby Dillon

WORDS OF WISE MEN

Whoever makes a great fuss about doing good does very little; he who wishes to be seen and noticed when he is doing good will not do it long.

A man should never be ashamed to own he has been in the wrong, which is but saying, in other words, that he is wiser today than he was yesterday.

When we shall have succeeded then will be our time to rejoice and freely laugh.

What a foolish thing is time! And how foolish is man, who would be as angry if time stopped as if it passed!

'Tis the noblest mood That takes least hold on anger; That hold least fire are fain to show it first. —Swinburne.

Happiness and misery are the games of two extremes, the utmost bounds whereof we know not.

Idleness is the great slough into which the voices of the world drift and settle.

The purest ore is produced from the hottest furnace, and the brightest flash of lightning is elicited from the darkest storm.

Judging is balancing an account, and determining on which side the odds lie.

It is a benefit of letters that they bring friends who are in many ways brought together.

"How much did you pay for the permit?" asked the attorney.

"About $250,000 or $300,000," he answered.

"That was for protection?"

"Yes, and for permits for service in withdrawing liquor, about the various institutions in which I was concerned."

Remus was asked to explain the necessity for the payments. He told of the permits for taking whiskey from distilleries to drug concerns.

There was an understanding that Smith was also to receive from $150 to $250 per case on each lot of whiskey that was handled through the Remus Distribution System.

"Melville Sternberger collected the permit payments in New York and Judge Hart was prohibition director at the time the permits were issued," the witness said.

"Not all that, some of that was for distilleries."

"How much did you pay for the permit?" asked the attorney.

"About $250,000 or $300,000," he answered.

"How did you pay the money?"

Chairman Brookhart asked.

"In cash, always, sometimes in $1,000 or $500 bills."

"You were protected in distributing the liquor, how long?" put in Chairman Brookhart.

"For a year and a half."

"What amount of liquor did you receive?"

"That's a hard thing—I can't even give you an approximation—I should say 600,000 or 800,000 gallons. I paid the government $800,000 or $1,000,000 in taxes at $1.20 per gallon."

"And in addition, you paid Jess Smith $1.50 or $2.50."

"Yes."

The whiskey he said, was being sold to bootleggers in a half dozen central states.

"Did you pay him money every time you met?" asked Senator Moses, Republican, New Hampshire.

"That was the purpose of our meetings," Remus said. "There was no sentiment in our relations."

"Did you meet him after your indictment?" asked Senator Wheeler.

"Yes, he told me there would be a vigorous prosecution that the department of justice would put up a fight but that I would never see the penitentiary. The jury might convict, but the case would go up on appeal and be reversed."

"Did Jess Smith say to you that he could get you out even if the appellate court sustained the conviction?"

"Yes. That was at the Washington Hotel after my conviction. I paid him $20,000 or $30,000."

"He said that a commutation would be arranged?"

"Did he say this arrangement was Chairman Brookhart."

"He said that the general—the attorney general—said there would be no putting away of Remus and his men."

OFFICIALS OF DEFUNCT FIRM INDICTED BY FEDERAL JURY

DAYTON, O., May 15.—(By the Associated Press.)—A federal grand jury indicted the directors of the defunct American Finance Company in a seven-count indictment returned by United States District Judge Smith Monday morning.

The indictment charges that the company attempted to sell its stock by fraudulent use of the mails in that it caused to be placed in the postoffice of Dayton and of Cincinnati, letters, circulars, booklets, pamphlets, newspapers and postcards representing falsely dividends which directors claimed would accrue to stockholders on no legitimate basis.

The directors are: Edward C. Whitaker, Charles Hoffritz, Milton C. Stern, Charles Blagie, H. D. Johnson, J. M. Dunwoody and Clarence Ketter, all Dayton business men.

G. W. Quinn, accountant, also was named in the indictment. James A. Smith and Julius Jones, Dayton, former directors, but recently deceased, were named in the indictment.

Nineteen counts were included in the indictment, 18 of which charged violations of Section 215 of the United States Penal Code, which covers all schemes or devices in which the mails are used to defraud. The last count is based on Section 37 and charges the defendants with conspiracy to violate the laws of the United States.

Auto Thieves Active; Stole Two Machines

Automobile thieves were busy again Thursday night, two owners reporting the theft of their machines to the police.

Herbert Burden, 1625 Offense street, appealed to the police to aid him in recovering his Ford touring car, which he claimed, was stolen from where it was parked at the entrance to the steel plant while he was at work there. The car carried license plates No. 470-834.

Charles Racy, 1218 Kinney's Lane, complained that his Chevrolet touring car disappeared from Eighth and Walder streets, where he had left the machine. The car carried license tags No. 115-980.

Who Is The Business Man?

Who if offered 5,000 handbills each 10 inches long and about 4 1-2 inches wide, with the opportunity to put on each bill vital facts about the merchandise he has to sell, would not consider it a bargain if he could get them for say $5. And if he were given the opportunity to pay say $5 more and have all these bills distributed in five thousand homes, would he not feel he was fortunate?

The Morning Sun is distributed each morning to nearly five thousand homes and less than a hundred of these are outside the Portsmouth community trading area. A space such as is designated above may be purchased in an issue of the Sun for as low as $3.60 and each advertisement will go into these almost 5,000 homes where the Sun is now a regular and welcome visitor.

PRESIDENT OF SOUTHERN CHINA NOT DEAD, CLAIMED

HONG KONG, May 16.—(By the Associated Press.)—Dr. Sun Yat-Sen, president of the South China government whose death was reported to have occurred Tuesday, is alive and perfectly well, his confidential secretary declared emphatically today to a representative of the Associated Press sent from Hong Kong to Sun's Canton headquarters.

Runners have been current that reports of Dr. Sun's death were untrue. Upon being assured that the South China leader still is alive, the correspondent requested an interview with him.

"This was denied," the correspondent cabled to Hong Kong. "The secretary said Sun Yat-Sen did not feel called upon to prove to anybody that he is not dead in view of categorical statements to the contrary, which have been issued at Sun's headquarters."

Dr. Sun, the secretary added, is "perfectly well after an indisposition that could not be termed an illness." However, the opinion prevails in Hong Kong that if the constitutional party chief is not dead, he at least is suffering from a severe mental breakdown. It is said his condition has been such that none but members of his family are permitted to see him.

THE BOWSER'S HAVE A WAGER TWO CAN PLAY AND MRS. BOWSER WINS IT

By DOROTHY DOUGLAS

BOWSER had smoked half of his cigar and threw the stub away. He had played with the cat's ears.

He had scanned the evening papers.

He had ten minutes' sleep in his rocking chair.

All at once he woke up, feeling that he wanted to ask Mrs. Bowser a question or two. And so he asked:

"Mrs. Bowser, how do you spell cider?"

"Just like everyone else spells it," she answered, wondering why he asked such a question.

"I have sent a barrel of sweet cider to every President we have had since we were married, and have always spelled it c-i-d-e-r."

"Then, Mr. Bowser, you have shown your ignorance," said Mrs. Bowser.

"Yes, I guess I have," was his reply. "But my old dad is to blame for it. According to law you can't let your boy go to work until he is twenty-one years old. My dad kept me home. While you were in school getting an education, I was at work."

My dad, when I finally refused to stay away from school, got mad at me. In some respects, he was a good dad to me, but in others, he was as mean as dirt. He refused to come over to your dad's house and see us get married, and it was a long, long time before he would speak to me."

"Yes, but later on he gave you half of his farm," said Mrs. Bowser.

"Yes, he did, but he didn't want to. All the people were talking about how mean he was, and his conscience bothered him, and so he gave me the part with the cider mill on it. That is how I came to send each President a barrel of cider. I always wrote them a letter and spelled it c-i-d-e-r."

"Oh, but you should have told me about it before," said Mrs. Bowser. "They must have had a great laugh when they read your letter."

"When it isn't c-i-d-e-r?" asked Bowser.

"Oh, no, no, no. It is c-i-d-e-r, and always will be."

"You are sure?" was asked.

"Certainly I am," was the reply.

"YOUR SPELLING HAS BEEN LAUGHED AT."

"I don't think there is such a word as c-i-d-e-r."

"But what difference does it make?" asked Bowser.

"I do not know that it makes any great difference," was answered, "only there is a rule for such things, and we must go by the rule. You did not go by the rule and men have laughed at you. Your spelling has been laughed at."

"They never said anything about it," said Mr. Bowser.

"Oh, they simply laughed to themselves. It would have been ill-manners to say anything about it."

"Why, I have written to the Mayor, also, and he has never said anything!"

"But he had a good laugh over it to himself," protested Mrs. Bowser.

"Now, then, let me tell you something," said Mrs. Bowser after a long look at Mr. Bowser. "Your office boy does your typewriting, and as he has never been to school he spells about like you do. If he asks you how to spell a word you could not tell him. I can run a typewriter and I can spell, and, after this, you let me do it. You tell me what you want written and I will write it."

After a few more questions it was settled that way. When the office boy heard of it, he said:

"That is all right, and the best way. I can't spell for shucks, and neither can you. We will let Mrs. Bowser try her hand at it."

"Mrs. Bowser, don't you think I could lecture?"

"There, you go again," was the reply. "If no sooner get you settled down than you want to go and do something very foolish. The men are only after your money, Mr. Bowser."

"Mrs. Bowser," said Mr. Bowser. "You are wrong there. That man lecturer that I know is one of the nicest men you ever saw, and he will pay me a salary of one hundred dollars a week."

"No, he won't do anything of the kind!" said Mrs. Bowser. "What he wants is to have you advance him a large sum of money and then he will go away and you will never see him again. You could not lecture, anyway, if you had a dozen."

"I think I could, and so does the man," said Mr. Bowser. "Other men have done it, and why can't I?"

"Because you have no lecture to deliver," said Mrs. Bowser in answer. "Are you going to deliver a lecture on the sun? Are you going to deliver a comic lecture that will make your audience laugh? What kind of a lecture are you going to deliver?"

Bowser waited a few minutes, and then replied:

"I think Mr. Hines will see about that."

"Yes, and he will see about other things," laughed Mrs. Bowser. "He will first ask you to lend him a thousand dollars, and then he will slide softly away."

"Mrs. Bowser," said Mr. Bowser, as he got up and walked the floor. "Mr. Hines is a straight and honest man, and would not beat me out of a pin."

"Well, we will see about that," said Mrs. Bowser. "There is something ringing the bell now!"

Mrs. Bowser made Mr. Bowser be seated while she went to the door, and there stood Mr. Hines, the lecturer. He looked like he was hard up. He did not have to wait long for Mrs. Bowser to say:

"Mr. Bowser is in but he has no money. We have no umbrellas to lend, and no old clothes."

The man saw at once that a great change had come about, and after standing for a minute he turned around and made his way through the gate. There was ice on the sidewalk, and he slipped around and then fell down. He got up again and muttered to Mrs. Bowser:

"If Mr. Bowser could loan me a couple of dollars I would pay him back tomorrow."

Mrs. Bowser shook her head no, and he went away.

"Didn't I tell you so?" said Mrs. Bowser when she was back into the sitting room.

"Yes, you did," said Bowser, "and I am much obliged to you. You know them at once, while it takes me a month to find them out. Well, that is all settled. I don't go lecturing any more. You have won the wager, and I haven't any more to say."

"BOWSER - 2. 17"

"HE SLIPPED AND THEN FELL DOWN."

could tease Connie unmercifully. He felt sure of Sam's mastery and had long felt him to be the best man going to keep Connie safely within a wedding ring.

"Call upon me to the limit," he sent back.

The campaign began by Rogers taking Connie for a walk along the waterfront on her night off. He had to admire her genius in wearing clothes suitable to a maid. Her suit was horribly ill-fitting and the big hat she wore with a great red feather drooping over one ear was a marvel of bad taste. He chuckled inwardly and led her to a secluded part of the beach.

Once there he used the time-worn tactics of putting his arm first across the back of the bench, then embedding it by her seeming agreement, he proceeded to let it slip across her shoulders.

"Give us a kiss," said Rogers.

"Oh, no," demurred Connie shyly. "I'm not that kind of a girl."

But whether or no, Rogers squeezed her up in a big hug and gave her a rebounding smack on the cheek.

"How dare you?" Connie was furious and entirely forgetting herself gave him a sharp slap.

"Then you shouldn't do such a tall job of flirting," Rogers calmly told her while he rubbed his stinging cheek. "I'm not the kind to be trifled with, kid. He threw out his chest and jaw and looked decidedly ferocious. Connie quailed but rather admired the type. Also, she knew that if he were of her own set she could have found tremendous joy in the situation. As it was she got up and went swiftly home. Rogers made no attempt to follow her and she was more furious than ever.

Connie, having an inborn fairness, knew that she was to blame, and she proceeded to tell Rogers so when next they came together. It was the kind of awkwardness that Rogers had expected from Connie and in consequence he invited her to the movies and they sat in the back row. A troublesome emotion was stirring within Connie. She had not felt this way ever when sitting besides any of her many men friends. Rogers had slipped her arm within his when the lights went out, but didn't attempt anything further. Glancing at him from time to time Connie saw that his face was tense and set. Outside the theater he swung her to an ice cream shop. On the way home he said softly, "Say, kid, I want you to marry me next Thursday—I love you."

Connie tripped but his quick arm caught her.

"It's far too sudden," gasped Connie. "I must think. Give me a week to decide."

"Not much," said Rogers. "You might decide the wrong way. But I'll give you until tomorrow morning. I want it to be yes."

Connie spent a sleepless night. She was caught, and she knew it. Out of all the men she had ever known, Rogers had swept her whole heart into his keeping.

Jack received a message next day that turned the entire house into rejoicing. Wedding and diamond ring, a license, arrange everything. Pack suitcase with dainty white dress, hat, slippers, etc.; have one of the cars waiting at Pennsylvania Station at noon Thursday. Leave suitcase with attendant at station. I will tell Connie to call for it. Happily, Sam.

So Connie dressed in her $7.99 suit, her cheap hat and her $1.98 shoes stepped on the train with Rogers on her wedding day.

"Sweetheart," said Rogers, "I love you in anything, but I want you to ask the attendant in the dressing room at the station for a suitcase. Open it, slip into what you find there and I'll be waiting at the Thirty-third Street entrance."

The big limousine was waiting. Sam scrambled into it, pulled down the curtains, sped awkwardly into immaculate morning clothes and stepped out a handsome bridegroom to wait for Connie.

Jack and all the family were waiting, and if Connie thought she was walking in a dream, it was a most wonderful and glorious dream, with a stalwart prince beside her and her own loved family as well.

SAVING HIM THE TROUBLE.

Two men who were friends met on the street. One said:

"It is late and I must go. My girl whom I am to marry is at the license bureau waiting for me."

"Oh, you need not hurry," was the other's reply. "I just came from there. I thought I would save you the trouble by marrying her first. You can stay here and congratulate me."

OUT OF A JOB.

"Hain't you workin'?" asked one tramp of another.

"No, not exactly working, but am lookin' around."

"What you lookin' fur?" asked the other.

"I would like to rob a bank, but don't think I will strike any luck. I never have found a good thing yet, and never shall."

DO YOUR SMILING.

Rainin' here, how is it there?

"Hope the sun is shinin' for you! Yes, we hope the weather's fair. Skies of blue a-shinin' o'er you. If it's rainin' here at present, I hope that somewhere else it's pleasant."

Rainin' here, but we don't mind when we have a little shower. Rain and sun will come, you find. Need 'em both to bring the flower. Though the heart's a little sad, Thank the Lord that someone's glad."

Rainin' here, and rain it will. So experience will tell us: 'Tain't a time for feelin' ill. Actin' mean and feelin' jealous—Other people's joy regretin' When you have to take a wettin'."

Rainin' here, and what of you? Hope you never set complainin'. Talkin' mean and lookin' blue. When it isn't even rainin'! Here's a wiser, better plan: Do your smilin' while you can."

THE BOY HAD THE TOOTH-ACHE.

A boy stood in the doorway of a dentist's and was crying, when a pedestrian came up and patted him on the back and said:

"Don't cry, my son. Why don't you go up and get it out?"

"Because there are some boys waiting across the street to hear me yell. I would go right up there in a minute only for the boys. They say a boy that cries hasn't any grit."

We have an Indian squaw up here that can outrun all the men and can turn handspins without stopping. She ran a mile the other day in three minutes.

The Indians have only one watch for five hundred of them, and when one looks at it he passes it to another.

There are slabs enough here to build fifty houses, but no one wants them. A new Chicago built of slabs would look nice.

A fight took place among the sailors last week, but the men looked WAY UP THERE - 2. 17.

Reports have gone to the Governor that we are teaching the Indians to swear, and our experience is that an Indian is not worth a darn unless he can swear. If we blow at him he will move along quicker than as if we kicked him.

One Indian killed fourteen wolves this winter. He is out after fourteen more. We gave him a dollar for each hide.

We have been told that there are twenty-seven kinds of weather at the North Pole, but we can beat them. The other day the weather changed thirteen times in one day, and Doctor Cook was not here at all.

During a thunderstorm the other day there was just one crash of lightning, but it hit our cow and knocked her flat, and when she got up again her horns had turned blue. A red cow with blue horns would make a good show in New York.

About one hundred Indians have died since we came here, but they are born about as fast as they die. They do not believe much in heaven or the other place.

A crazy man came here the other day, and before he left he had six fights with the Indians. This man wanted to start a newspaper, but after we had talked with him for a few minutes he gave up his object and walked off. Most people think that everybody that comes here is crazy. If a man is not crazy he can't make money here.

We have an Indian squaw up here that can outrun all the men and can turn handspins without stopping. She ran a mile the other day in three minutes.

The Indians have only one watch for five hundred of them, and when one looks at it he passes it to another.

There are slabs enough here to build fifty houses, but no one wants them. A new Chicago built of slabs would look nice.

A fight took place among the sailors last week, but the men looked WAY UP THERE - 2. 17.

Reports have gone to the Governor that we are teaching the Indians to swear, and our experience is that an Indian is not worth a darn unless he can swear. If we blow at him he will move along quicker than as if we kicked him.

One Indian killed fourteen wolves this winter. He is out after fourteen more. We gave him a dollar for each hide.

We have been told that there are twenty-seven kinds of weather at the North Pole, but we can beat them. The other day the weather changed thirteen times in one day, and Doctor Cook was not here at all.

During a thunderstorm the other day there was just one crash of lightning, but it hit our cow and knocked her flat, and when she got up again her horns had turned blue. A red cow with blue horns would make a good show in New York.

About one hundred Indians have died since we came here, but they are born about as fast as they die. They do not believe much in heaven or the other place.

A crazy man came here the other day, and before he left he had six fights with the Indians. COLUMBUS TRADE TOURISTS FIND HEARTY WELCOME HERE

Approve Portsmouth-Sandusky Canal Barge Route; Enjoy Auto Ride Over the City

Cordial indeed was the greeting Portsmouth extended the Good Will Trade Tourists of the Columbus Manufacturers' and Jobbers' Association this morning, the visitors leaving their special train here as early as 7 o'clock. They departed again at 10:20, twenty minutes behind scheduled time.

Columbus business men know Southern Ohio hospitality and willingness to cooperate—that human touch so necessary in business—and they found all of that and more in their visit to Portsmouth this time. Every one of the 450 visitors, most of them here for the first time was loud in his praises for the Peerless City. Others who had visited here several years ago marveled at the manner in which the city had grown in the last few years and they predicted a great future for this section, making special mention of the splendid cooperative spirit shown last night in the big meeting held at Ironton with Chambers of Commerce in Portsmouth, Ironton, Ashland and Huntington well represented.

The special train of nine coaches including Pullmans and diners left Ironton about one o'clock this morning and made the usual time to the city, the train being parked on Tenth street just east of Waller. At seven o'clock the visitors started leaving their cars for a tour of the city. The early risers hurried to the business section and were ready to call on local business men when they opened their stores this morning. The tourists have traveled for the most part on eastern time and this caused some confusion here. Due to their early arrival no formal attempt to entertain the tourists was made. Chamber of Commerce and Automobile Club members gathered near the depot to greet those who desired to go on a tour of the city. It was after 8 before all the visitors had left the train and this delay in starting on an automobile tour caused the twenty minute delay in the schedule of the train.

Among the visitors was Mayor James J. Thomas of Columbus, who was one of the speakers at Ironton last night. A short speaking program was enjoyed before the Columbus tourists presented their three act comedy play, "A Maid From Columbus" in the Ironton high school auditorium. Members of the party take part in the show. Heber's Orchestra of Columbus furnished music. Portsmouth was represented by about thirty business men and manufacturers.

The tourists expressed themselves individually and collectively as well pleased with the outlook for the future development of the tri-state region and picture it as one of the best trading fields in the country within a few years.

They pointed out that this section abounds with natural resources that are sure to mean much in the building up of this section. The Columbus men are also boosters for the Central Ohio Waterway from Portsmouth to Sandusky and pledge their support in getting approval of this route over several others.

Members of the Good Will Tour who visited here on other occasions of this kind report that on no other trip have they found the hearty reception accorded them this time. They report a splendid reception at every stop on their four day's trip. The stops yesterday included Huntington, Kenova, Cadizburg, Ashland and Ironton. They were taken from Ashland to Huntington via automobile. From here the tourists went to Waynesville, and then Chillicothe. No visit was made in Chillicothe, the transfer being made there to the B. & O. tracks so that the special could get into Bainbridge. Greenfield and Washington, C. H. The first stop on last Tuesday at Athens.

WORDS of WISE MEN

Love can live upon itself alone, but friendship must feed on worthiness. Therefore the way to secure a friend is to BE one.

The man who has really tried has at least succeeded at a point where most failures begin.

The only way that the desire for affection can really be satisfied is by giving it rather than by receiving it.

Time makes all grief decay.

Real friendship is of slow growth and never thrives unless engrained upon a stock of known and reciprocal merit.

A generous soul is sunshine to the mind.

Education begins the gentleman, but reading, good company and reflection must finish him.

Good, the more communicated, the more abundant grows.

FINDING A FARM---

In fact, finding just the one you want to buy---isn't any more difficult than finding the "Farms And Land For Sale" column in the A-B-C Classified Section.

All you have to do is simply to turn to Classification 83 ---and look over the opportunities to secure farms of many descriptions and varied prices.

Take this hint---and save time and money!

WORDS of WISE MEN

A wise man is never less alone than when he is alone.

A man has no more right to say an unkind thing than to act one.

He who conceals a useful truth is equally guilty with the propagator of an injurious falsehood.

The eye of the understanding is for two ends: first, our own increase of knowledge; secondly, to enable us to deliver and make over that knowledge to others.

Let every man be occupied, and occupied in the highest employment of which his nature is capable, and die with the consciousness that he has done his best.

Our duties to others ought to be continually looked at from their standpoint.

Every man stamps his value on himself, the price we challenge for.

Look over the whole creation, and you shall see that the hand, or cement, that holds together all the parts of this great and glorious fabric is gratitude.

The diminutive chains of habit are seldom heavy enough to be felt until they are too strong to be broken.

How to him who bows not to the flatterer.

It is meet that noble minds keep ever with their likes: For who so firm that cannot be seduced?—Shakespeare.

When a man loses his health, then he begins to take care of it.

Success comes when a man has something to do and does it.

GOITRE REDUCED IN 15 DAYS
If you suffer from Goitre you will be glad to know that it is no longer necessary to worry about painful and dangerous methods of removing it. Science has developed a new treatment, called Thyrogland, which quickly reduces the growth without the slightest inconvenience, danger or pain. Many sufferers say this remarkable new discovery quickly cured them of their Goitre after everything else failed.

The treatment has been perfected for easy use at home, and to introduce Thyrogland to a million sufferers in one month, I want to send a treatment to everyone who will write for it. Since you are not obligated in any way, just send your name and address for this generous offer to L. H. Carver, 498 Baltimore bldg., Kansas City, Mo., and you can be rid of Goitre—Advert.

Auction Sale of Beautiful Lots!

These lots are situated in the Mathiott Addition near the South Webster brick paved road and near Wheelersburg, within 15 minutes auto drive of the steel mills.

This very important lot sale will be held Saturday, May 31st, commencing promptly at 9 a. m. o'clock. A lunch dinner will be served on the grounds. A large number of presents are to be given away during the progress of the sale.

THIS IS THE SECOND AUCTION SALE OF BUILDING LOTS IN THE MATHIOTT ADDITION. There is a great and growing interest in this wonderful town-site. This is a place where men and women that are sick can come and get well. Almost a summer home, a place where anyone can well afford to come and build himself a cottage home and enjoy the fine breeze that unceasingly flows across this plateau of country, and be free from the fog and dampness of the low valleys. The water in this town-site is uncommonly good, pure and cold and comes out of a great rock deep down in the ground. The Mathiott addition is improving rapidly, two new houses already completed, others have been laid off to commence work at once. Beautiful maple trees have already been artistically planted all over the addition. Other great improvements have been made. In fact, the whole proposition has been more or less beautified. It is to be remembered that this town-site was laid off by a man that knew how to do modern and up-to-date work in every respect. This is a great place for a poor man to own him a home also it is a good place for a wealthy man to have him a summer home.

TALK ABOUT THE GREAT HIGHWAY SITUATED IN SOME LOW VALLEY. AND NO WORK CLOSE BY. One cannot live on a great highway. A man that has labor to sell wants first to get him a good home, then he wants to see smoke stacks and revolving engines pulsating with the life blood of business, energy and thrift. A full dinner pail is what he wants most.

The Mathiott Addition is contiguous to many great works where the fire of industries never go out.

This great Auction Sale of valuable building lots will be held Saturday, May 31st, and will start promptly at 9:00 a. m. o'clock and will proceed, rain or shine.

There will be a band concert that will render sweet strains of music during the progress of the sale. All are invited to come. Ladies especially invited to be present. We want to demonstrate to you all the Virginia and Kentucky way of making an auction sale. We will thank you for your presence.
